

ECA Launches Nivo Quad 4K Multiviewer

Reading, February 6th, 2018 – ECA Services, leading systems specialists and integrators of AV, IoT, and digital signage solutions, will be launching their new multiviewer appliance at ISE 2018 in the Netherlands. In partnership with Matrox Graphics, global manufacturers of innovative video wall, encoding and KVM products, the ECA Nivo Quad 4K Multiviewer will be an exclusive addition to Stand 11-D120.

With a Mura IPX Decode and Display card at its core, the Nivo can decode RTSP streams and output 4 separate 4K displays, making it a perfect fit for AV and video wall applications. Powered by such cutting-edge technology, the Nivo delivers unrivalled performance in a remarkably small footprint, helping customers to design, develop, and enhance their IP video streaming infrastructure. The Nivo is a flexible, scalable, and modular solution, supporting display configurations for virtually any application.

“ECA Services have utilised Matrox’s new revolutionary board technology and produced a complete ready-to-go product” said Tom Fiander, Business Development Manager at ECA. “The versatility of the Matrox platform allowed us to create a lightweight appliance suitable for a myriad of applications” added Dean Barrow, Nivo designer and Lead Software Engineer at ECA.

The Nivo stands as the first go-to-market product to bear the ECA branding and the first to be completely designed and integrated from their configuration centre in the Thames Valley technology corridor. Demo units are expected in Q2, with a projected production date of May 2018.
